

announcing

Midland Families

A web-based network of families with historic ties to Midland Cemetery and the local African American community

Genealogy ✦ Family History ✦ Photographs ✦
Family News ✦ Announcements ✦ Stories ✦ Lore
Reunions

Start your own unique Family Page on the Internet, linked to the Friends of Midland website and to all of the databases of the Afrolumens Project. Post your family tree, old photographs, stories and facts about your ancestors. But don't stop there. Include news from present generations, birth announcements, marriages, photos of children and grandchildren. Promote family reunions. Tell family and friends about the site.

No web design knowledge needed

No fees

Just send your family information to us and we'll do the rest. Fill out some simple forms and mail or email them to us. Update or change your information at any time by notifying us. Send additional information anytime you wish and it will be posted to your family page. Midland Families is set to debut on July 1, 2006.

How do I get started?

Look for the Midland Families question forms, fill them out, and give them or send them to the Friends of Midland. You can stop there—we will design and post your Family Page—or you can locate additional resources to copy and send in. Photos, newspaper clippings, stories, a family tree—all will make your family page more interesting and valuable as a source of local history.

Do I have to be a member of Friends of Midland?

No, but this project is sponsored by the Friends of Midland. It is only through your support that the cemetery is kept up, history is preserved and projects such as this come into existence.